DUNES? YOUR GREAT BRITISH SUMMER STARTS HERE

THE BRITISH HOLIDAY SCENE has really upped its game, from back-to-nature glamping to contemporary coastal luxury in high-spec boltholes close to a hip bar or two.
A true Brit break is a celebration

Go off-grid in camping splendour – roughing it has never been so smooth (or eco-friendly).

BOTHY PROJECT, Cairngorms

The Inshriach House estate in the Scottish Highlands is home to the Bothy Project: a larch and tin hut used out of season as an artists' residence. Tucked into the woods, a bed platform, seating area and wood burner have been neatly shoehorned
